IRM Run of Analyst Time Distribution

As requested, the following report of the use of the machine runs of analyst time distribution in I/SH is submitted:

a. Analyst Report. This report, which is received two to four weeks after the close of the month, is of very little use in supervising the work of the individual analyst. Its only value is in the monthly branch totals by categories which are used in working up estimates in planning future branch programs.

b. Computer Report. Not used in the branch.

c. Division Project Report.

d. Project Report. These reports are of very little value in the branch as each analyst has a record of his project hours.

e. Activity Report. Of no use in the branch. Due to the late receipt of the report, information contained in the report is arrived at in the branch by adding monthly reports.

f. Category Report. Of no use in the branch.

g. Consumer Report. Of no use in the branch.

h. Area Report. Of no use in the branch.

i. Project Number Report. Of no use in the branch.
